Based in the bustling district just south of Sydney's CBD, Eco Concepts is a busy stone dealer and showroom. With many different types of stone and rock on display, the store receives well over 100 visitors during the working week and even more on Saturdays.

The store's manager, Warren Treloar, says the traffic through the store is akin to a building site: "We are constantly moving building supplies and furniture around the store. Also, as well as our customers moving through we have a lot of functions throughout the year where red wine and food is spilt as well as people's heels digging into our stone floor."

Due to the wear and tear, the store needed a sealer that could withstand the constant traffic. One that came with some sort of warranty was also an important factor.

Local applicator Bruce Arndell was chosen to seal the floor, using Dry-Treat's STAIN-PROOF. Bruce has been an Accredited Applicator for three years, and believed STAIN-PROOF was more than adequate to survive the pressures at Eco Concepts: "The store had many different types of stone to be sealed, as they have various displays. STAIN-PROOF was able to seal every type of stone and it will easily stand up to the traffic for it's 15 year warranty life."

To date, Eco Concepts is very happy with the way the stone is protected: "The STAIN-PROOF is certainly doing the job required. When it gets cleaned, our stone always looks fantastic."
